THREE JAILED FOR COURT ON LIQUOR COUNTS

Charles J. Myers, alias Daniel A. Gates, 535 S. Court St., York; William C. Carter, 308 Chestnut St., York, and T. J. Flack, alias T. J. Yacks, 35 E. Maple St., York, were held in $1,000 bail each for illegal transportation of liquor and carrying liquor in packages not bearing the seal of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and were committed to the Adams County Jail following a hearing before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. They will appear at the April session.

Faces Second Charge
Myers, alias Gates, was held on another count of operating a motor vehicle after his operating privileges had been suspended. Myers waived a hearing and was held under an additional $500 bail.

A $700 car-tractor trailer accident in Cumberland Twp. on Route 15 last Friday resulted in the charges against Myers, Carter and Flack of transporting in a motor vehicle liquor that had not been lawfully acquired and having liquor in packages not bearing the Control Board seal.

The three were committed to the Adams County Jail Friday afternoon. Myers, alias Gates, and Carter were released on $500 bail each, Friday.

L. V. Bomgardner, liquor control enforcement officer, filed the charges.

3 CHAMPION LHS SQUADS ARE HONORED

Littlestown High School's three champion squads, football and boys' and girls' basketball, and Coach Wilbur Gobrecht and Mrs. Kay Sentz were feted Thursday evening at a "Banquet of Champions" at Banker's Restaurant by the Rotary, Lions and Junior Chamber of Commerce of Littlestown.

Termining the success of the football team in winning the Laurel Conference, the basketball team in winning the Adams County League play-offs and the girls' basketball team in capturing the championship of the Adams County League as "phenomenal," Toastmaster A. G. Ealy told the group that it probably wouldn't happen again in ten years and might never occur again.

Shober Barr, dean of physical education at Franklin and Marshall, based his talk on Knute Rockne's famed statement, "For a boy to be a good football player, he needs three things — brains, speed and courage."

Athletes Need 'Trigger Brains'
Barr, who is a vice president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and who has been a member of the controversial television committee of the NCAA for the last four years, told the group that the business of the schools is education, and athletics is one of the sidelines.

C-D TEST SOON, CHIEFS ARE TOLD

Preliminary plans have been announced for a Civil Defense test in May or June, County Fire Marshal John Murren announced Thursday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Fire Chiefs' Association at Littlestown.

The test will be state-wide and possibly nationwide, Murren said, but details are in the formative stage. He also reported planned changes in the Civil Defense signal setup system.

The chiefs were asked to send post cards listing the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the chiefs and assistants to Secretary G. Henry Roth, care of The Gettysburg Times, in order to make up a complete listing for the organization and to make a duplicate listing for the Adams County Firemen's Association.

The new Midway Fire company is awaiting its charter, according to reports at the meeting. The Harney company now has trained firemen and is planning to secure a truck this summer. The chiefs' association voted to admit Harney as a member as soon as it names a chief and assistants. A similar invitation will go to Midway when it is organized.

Chiefs were asked to notify Fire Marshal John Murren of the territory for which their company is responsible so that a listing may be made of the exact territory from which each company is to report fires. Next meeting of the unit will be held May 3 at McSherrytown. President Bernard V. Miller presided.

RESTORE MAIL SERVICE MONDAY

Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyler announced today that morning collections of mail from letter boxes throughout the town, discontinued March 12, will be resumed next Monday morning.

Mr. Oyler said: "After a review of the situation, considering our patrons and the efficiency of the postal service, it is deemed advisable to restore the morning collection."

"At this time we are considering the elimination of boxes in the residential sections of town in the evening collection, making a collection in the business district only, which in our opinion will give a better service than eliminating the morning collection."

At the time the morning collection was dropped Mr. Oyler said the change was being made because of "a policy of the department." Today's announcement means that the early morning collection of mail from 5:30 to 6:30 o'clock each day will be made from all letter boxes instead of only from the one in front of the postoffice. Since March 9 the first collection has not been made until about 9 a.m.

LACK OF STATE FUNDS HANDICAP TO LIBRARY BD.

Circulation figures continue to rise at the Adams County Free Library but with no money to buy new books and with hundreds of children's books worn beyond repairing a second time, the board of library directors at their April meeting Thursday evening found the growing demand for books complicating the problem they face.

With much of the financial trouble due to the fact that more than half of the 1955 state appropriation to the library is yet unpaid and the first payment on the 1956 sum is already due, the board members studied ways to make a current bank balance of $1,882 last two months.

The money from the state forms one of the larger items in the library budget and the state's failure to pay has put a stop to book buying while the need for buying more books for children and teenagers grows.

Many Need Replacing
Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, the librarian, submitted her monthly circulation report showing 27,411 book loans last month as compared with 21,223 in March of last year. "That's a wonderful increase but it means our books are being worn out faster now than last year. There are a great many children's books that are beyond repair and will have to be thrown away this summer after the schools close."

The main library circulation gain over last year is tapering off and Mrs. Wilson said that reflects a need for more new books. There were 3,632 loans there last month as against 2,621 in March of last year. School station loans last month totaled 22,635.

The monthly financial statement showed the library had a balance of $175 but Mrs. Wilson said $800 from Gettysburg borough, $750 from the Community Chest and $157 from Beta Sigma Phi as proceeds from the library-benefit Valentine dance (Continued On Page 2)

DONALD ERNST HEADS PTA AT ARENDTSTVILLE

Donald Ernst was elected president of the Arendtville Parent Teacher Association at the monthly meeting Thursday night in the Arendtville grade school at 7:30 o'clock. David Houck was elected vice president, Mrs. Clyde Seel, secretary, and Mrs. Ronald Grim, treasurer.

Mrs. Louis Bosserman and Clair Thomas were appointed to the auditing committee.

"Our Problem with Children and Their Problem with Us" was the subject discussed by District Attorney Daniel Teeter. He was introduced by the president, Ernest Rebert.

"People do not comprehend what their children are doing," Teeter said. "They are too busy to guide and direct them. A child should not be judged by adult standards but by a child his own age. We should try to help the child develop admirable qualities and strength of character which will assist him later in adulthood."

Present Program
Fifth graders presented playlets, tableaux, songs, hymns, piano solos and band music.

"Peter Cottontail" and "Easter Parade" were sung by the Fifth graders. Each song was accompanied by a tableau. The following piano solos were played: "Banjo Player," "The Minuet" and "New World Symphony." The band played "Carol" and "America."

The Scriptural reading was given by Richard Guise.

White House Conference Final Report On Education Goes To Ike

By HERMAN R. ALLEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Committee for the White House conference on education told President Eisenhower today "the schools have fallen far behind both the aspirations of the American people and their capabilities."

Nevertheless, the committee said in its final report: "There is far more to be proud of in today's schools than there is to criticize. Their weaknesses usually stem from a lack of means rather than any defect in their goal."

Calling for action to arouse and maintain public interest, the report said schools "now affect the welfare of the United States more than ever before" and "have become the chief instrument for keeping this nation the fabled land of opportunity it started out to be."

START SURVEY ON HANDICAPPED CHILDREN HERE

Administrators and some nurses from the county's school jointures and independent districts met Thursday evening at the Keefeauw Elementary School to plan a survey of the county's handicapped children for the county board of school directors.

The survey is designed to give the directors information on which to develop a plan for providing special educational and other facilities for the handicapped youngsters.

Under a law passed by the state legislature about a month ago, the county board must submit that plan to the State Department of Public Instruction by July 1.

He served as president of the Washington Press Club for two years and was assigned to the conference during which it was decided by ex-President Truman to fire General MacArthur. Donations Help Donations during March included $200 each from the Gettysburg and the Upper End Joint School Districts and $120 from the Inland Container Company. These receipts will make it possible to meet current operating costs, the board believes, but some unpaid book bills cannot be met.

Mrs. Kenneth Smoke, a member of the board, announced that the library services bill is to be reported out by a Congress committee soon and asked members of the board to drite the congressmen and U. S. senators urging passage.

Other categories decided upon were the mentally retarded, the physically handicapped (divided into various types of such handicaps), those with sight problems, hearing problems and speech problems.

"Splinter New" Program

All districts with the exception of the Littlestown Jointure were represented Thursday. Littlestown was excused because of an important program there which had been previously scheduled. The county office is scheduled to provide the Littlestown system with the criteria and instructions decided upon Thursday night.

The county plan will include much that already has been set up in the county, such as the speech and hearing program, the Day Care Training Center and a program by which county children who are spastics are sent to school in York. It will also include "whatever else we discover," the educators observed Thursday night.

How quickly the plans that must be submitted by July 1 will go into effect—in addition to the special training already in operation—was described as "anybody's guess." The program was described by Superintendent Riegle as "splinter new and we will sort of have to feel our way along."

"COMPARING YOU"

When I look upon sweet flowers . . . I am gazing at your face . . . for your lips are blushing roses . . . full of tenderness and grace . . . when I view the starlit heavens . . . I behold your loving eyes . . . all aglow with faith unending . . . that makes waning hope arise . . . looking on a web of moonbeams . . . as they filter through the trees . . . portrays your silken hair to me . . . blown by a gentle breeze . . . your charms and nature are akin . . . both depict godly art . . . like nature you have found your way . . . like nature you have found your way . . . into my deepest heart . . . so I compare you to the stars . . . and moon that shine above . . . what better way can such as I . . . tell wondrous you of love?

Worley Backs Decision On Full Tax Refund

Assemblyman Francis Worley spoke in the House at Harrisburg on Thursday in favor of the conference report, which was adopted finally today by the Senate, granting farmers a full refund on their gasoline tax on fuel used in farm machinery.

Worley pointed out he has urged this legislation since 1949. "I am pleased to see that almost everyone is not opposing the farmer today," he said.

Mr. Worley also introduced a resolution, which was referred to the Rules committee, urging that all communities that adopt any standard of time than that prescribed by law do so without changing the time shown by clocks. Citing the lack of uniformity and confusion caused by changes to Daylight Time, Worley suggested less trouble would be caused if the clocks are not altered.

Cold Month Of March 'Retires'
With Balm 62: A cold, blustery month of March ended Monday evening gentle as a lamb but left memories of a 16-inch snow, high winds and low temperatures.

The month had roared in on icy gales 31 days before with the temperature 18 degrees below freezing and sustained low temperatures that kept the month's average reading far below average. But on Monday, the last day of the month, the highest reading for the 31-day period was reached when the mercury climbed to 62 degrees.

Today's Talk

FOR LOVE OF BIRDS

Birds are among our greatest benefactors. It is impossible to measure, or adequately reward them for the service they render, especially those that inhabit our gardens. And then we owe them a debt of gratitude for their cheerful songs and inspiring companionship. It would be a different world without their presence.

William Blake once said: "He who shall hurt the little wren shall never be beloved by men." Audubon devoted a lifetime to the drawing of birds, and these magnificent colored prints are among the treasures of art. He had to love birds to draw them so beautifully.

One of my favorite and best loved authors is W. H. Hudson, who gave his life to the writing of birds. The outstanding character in his famous book "Green Mansions" is that of the bird woman, "Rima." Jacob Epstein did a representation of his idea of Hudson's "Rima" which is now located in the Hudson memorial park at Hyde Park, London. It is carved in Portland stone.

Here in America we have many fine writers on birds. To name a few: Edwin Way Teale, Donald Culross Peattie, John Kieran, Louis J. Halle Jr., and many others. I have an entire shelf of the writings of those who wrote on birds, and every book inspires me.

Birds are cheerful little bodies, and they sing as though their songs came right from their hearts, as undoubtedly they do. The hardships these birds endure are almost unbelievable, yet they give no evidence of complaint. All winter several varieties of birds have been fed by me, and they have so welcomed this small attention.

But when springtime and summer come they will be returning their thanks in the service they will render in destroying insects and worms that live off our gardens.

By being thoughtful toward birds, feeding, watching and helping them, with materials for their homes, they will render many a song in appreciation.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Anticipation" Protected, 1956, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

PERFECT

He never whispered when in school.
He did his home work when he should.

He never boldly broke a rule,
The marks he got were always good.

The teacher never called him dunce,
For he was smart as smart can be.

This little boy was perfect once.
That's what the children hear from me.

He listened when the teacher talked,
In class he never teased the girls.

Their nice blue frocks he never chalked,
Or spattered ink upon their curls.

When questioned he would raise his hand
The answer eager to supply.

Now children don't you understand
That perfect little boy was I.

Yes, grandpa. Understand we do,
But daddy says you like to boast.

That all you tell us isn't true.
Sometimes you vexed your teachers most.

Your pa and ma you worried, too.
When you were eight and nine and ten.

That good boy surely wasn't you.
You can't say you were perfect then.

DETROIT (AP)—Edgar A. Guest, 74, Detroit Free Press poet, suffered a mild heart attack last night. At Northwest Grace Hospital today, doctors said his condition was unchanged.

along North Washington street, near the college campus, were thrown into a fever of excitement late Sunday morning when a two and one-half year old boy was lost.

Billy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cole, was playing with Tommy, one of his brothers. When Tommy went into the house to get a drink of water, Billy started out on an "expedition" of his own. Unable to find his brother, Tommy reported to his mother. Other residents in the neighborhood joined in the search.

About three-quarters of an hour later Mrs. Cole found her boy. He had walked to the Reading station, thence down the railroad tracks, attracted by a switching freight. He kept on walking, trudging along the tracks, then cut through a yard fronting on Buford avenue and was headed up Buford hill towards the new seminary chapel when discovered by his mother.

Fuss Invited To Safety Conference

Merwyn C. Fuss has been invited by President Eisenhower to attend the President's Conference on Occupational Safety, to be held in Washington May 14-16.

The purpose of the conference is "to save human life and limb and to further know accident prevention measures and safety education in the plants and on the farms of America." More than 3,000 management, farm, labor and government leaders will hear the President address the conference on the opening day.

Speakers and clinics will demonstrate successful methods of preventing work injuries in industry, agriculture, and public service. The three day conference will end with a report to President Eisenhower by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

In an effort to reduce human suffering, economic loss and the waste of skills resulting from nearly 2,000,000 work injuries each year, President Eisenhower has, for the first time, called upon the entire nation to observe "Job Safety Week" May 13-19.

HERB SCORE IS LOOKING GREAT FOR INDIANS

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

Young Herb Score apparently has put blinkers on his fast ball, and this could provide just the impetus needed to carry Cleveland to the American League pennant.

If the rival New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox have been looking hopefully for signs that the 22-year-old southpaw fireballer may be stricken by the "sophomore jinx," they can find no comfort in spring developments to date.

Score, the American League's "Rookie of the Year" and leading strikeout specialist in 1955, continues to live up to his appellation as the "new Lefty Grove."

Five Scoreless Innings

The towering young lefthander from Lake Worth, Fla., pitched five scoreless innings against the New York Giants yesterday at Corpus Christi, Tex., in helping the Indians to their second straight 2-0 shutout. His steaming fast ball under full control, he gave up only two hits and fanned seven.

This marked the second shutout of the spring season for the Cleveland sophomore, who was credited with a 10-0 decision over the Giants March 17, and his fourth victory against no defeats.

But Score's value to the Indians goes deeper than his scoreboard victories.

Builds Fire Under Vets

His sparkling work apparently has built a fire under Cleveland's veterans, Mike Garcia, Early Wynn, Bob Lemon and Bob Feller, and the "Old Barber" from the Giants, Sal Maglie.

They have shown a lot of zip in the Indians' 16 spring victories against 10 defeats.

Cleveland's pitching staff, the key to the team's pennant hopes, seems to be reaching peak form more quickly than most of the team's rivals.

Except in this game and the night contest at Houston in which the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Kansas City Athletics 6-1, the exhibitions yesterday showed the hitters—as is quite normal at this stage—well ahead of the pitchers.

A total of 21 home runs were hit in the six games, with the biggest explosion at Albany, Ga., where the Chicago White Sox beat St. Louis 10-7, with each team getting four homers. The White Sox home runs were by George Kell, Luis Aparicio, Sherm Lollar and Minnie Minoso, snapping a four-game losing streak. Joe Frazier, Solly Hemus, Bill Sarni and Red Schoendienst homered for St. Louis.

5 Homers By Cubs

The Chicago Cubs collected five home runs—two each by Ernie Banks and Clyde McCullough and another by Don Hoak—in blasting Baltimore 16-4, at Alpine, Tex. Milwaukee socked Brooklyn's world champions 8-6 at New Orleans. Hank Aaron and Bobby

MARINE CORPS RELAYS OPEN AT QUANTICO TODAY

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—The Marine Corps Relays—the newest of the outdoor track meets—gets under way here today with more than 1,000 athletes shooting for two dozen assorted titles.

While this was listed simply as a relay meet, it actually was a warmup for United States Olympic candidates, some of whom have been working out here all week.

The entries from the west coast, who have had opportunity to practice outdoors, were the favorites. They included Parry O'Brien of Los Angeles in the shotput and Lon Spurrier in the half mile.

Center Of Attraction

The center of most of the attraction was young Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College in the hurdles. He tied indoor records in the 50, 60, and 70-yard hurdles during the indoor season.

He never has been up against the best of competition outdoors. Prospective Olympians were entered in virtually every event on the program, although the mile was conspicuous by the absence of Wes Santee and Ron Delany.

Santee, a lieutenant in the Marine corps stationed here, is the manager of the meet. This job required him to mingle with some of his arch-enemies in the Amateur Athletic Union—the same group which suspended him for life for accepting excessive expenses in some meets last year.

Thomson homered for the Braves. Charlie Neal and Roy Campanella did it for the Dodgers.

There were two home runs—by Washington's Whitey Herzog and Cincinnati's Bob Thurman—in the Redlegs' ninth inning 4-3 comeback victory over the Senators at Camp Gordon, Ga. Harry Simpson hit a fifth inning home run for Kansas City's lone run and one of the team's two hits at Houston.

Pittsburgh won on the sharp pitching of Dick Littlefield, who was relieved by Nelson King in the ninth.

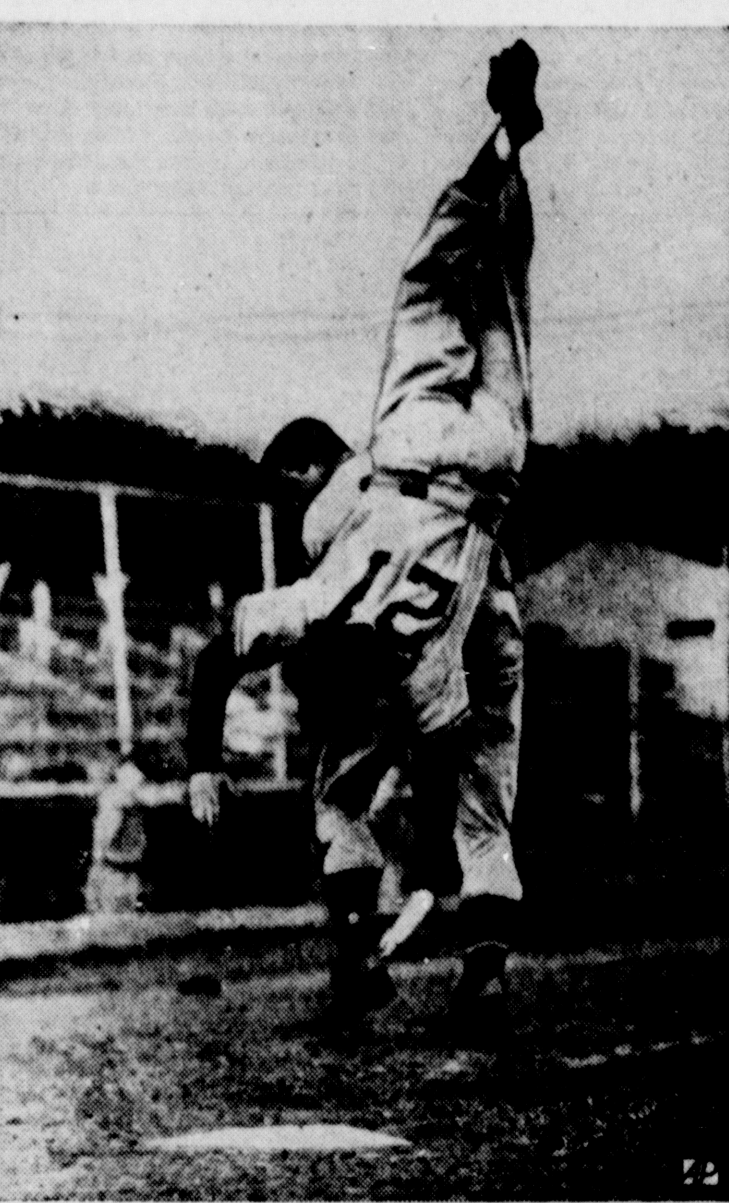

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—The American Cancer Society will present grants of about $200,000 to Pennsylvania research institutions in the next few weeks, Maj. Gen. William G. Donovan said last night.

Donovan, honorary member of the American Cancer Society board of directors, spoke at a kickoff dinner launching the annual fund campaign of the Pennsylvania division of the ACS.

Donovan didn't specify what institutions would receive the grants but said they would be announced shortly.

The cancer fund goal in Pennsylvania is $1,450,000.

Air Attack Is Beaten Off

Lonnie Wilson, a pinch hitter for Adamson High School, Dallas, Tex., is put out the hard way as he goes up in the air in a vain attempt to score. Curtis Rivers, catcher for Woodrow Wilson High, makes the put out on Wilson who tried to come in from second in the last half of the ninth inning of the game between the local teams. Woodrow Wilson won, 4 to 1.

Mount Courtmen Lose To Terrors

The Mt. St. Mary's College tennis team dropped its opening match of the season Thursday to Western Maryland 6-3. The match was transferred to Emmitsburg when the courts at Westminster were unfit for play.

St. Peter's of New Jersey will meet the Mountaineers at Emmitsburg, Saturday.

RUNAWAY PAIR HELD FOR COURT

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The parents of a 2½-year-old boy found abandoned in New Mexico Feb. 20 Wednesday waived extradition after their arraignment in District Court on fugitive charges.

Civil Judge Robert W. Landry, sitting in district court, ordered Carl M. Trout, 29, and his wife, Sara, 19, formerly of Wilmington, Del., held in $2,000 bail each pending the arrival of New Mexico authorities.

The couple was arrested here Monday after a nationwide search on New Mexico charges of abandoning their son, James, outside a closed filling station at Tucuman, N. M.

The Trouts, who had been living in Milwaukee about a month, told police they abandoned their son after they failed to have him admitted to a hospital in Wilmington, Del. The couple had lived in Wilmington the past three years.

If convicted on the New Mexico charges, the Trouts could be sentenced to prison for not more than five years or be sent to jail for not less than six months.

KEN VENTURI GOES 6 UNDER PARIN MASTERS

By MERCER BAILEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Shades of Billy Joe Patton, another amateur golfer is off and running in the Masters.

Ken Venturi is the young man's name and he showed the veteran pros a thing or two about golf with his opening round 66.

The 24-year-old San Francisco stylist's six-under-par was only two shots over the record for the tough Augusta National course and it gave him a one stroke lead over defending champion Cary Middlecoff going into today's second round.

Tied for third with 68s were a pair of regular circuit riders, Shelley Mayfield and Tommy Bolt.

Hogan Shoots 69

Ben Hogan, the two-time Masters winner who holds the tournament record of 274, was next with a 69. Patton, amateur sensation here two years ago, shot 70 for a tie with Doug Ford, the PGA champion, and Bob Rosburg, who tied for fourth here last year.

Not everyone found the course, with its par of 36-36—72 stretched through 6,950 yards of woodlands, easy to master, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret, the only three-time winners of this tournament, had to settle for 73s.

Outstanding Never Won

Playing with Patton, the North Carolina lumberman who came within a whisker of winning the 1954 Masters, Venturi used an eagle and five birdies in fashioning his brilliant round.

No amateur ever has won a Masters, to the chagrin of founding father Bobby Jones, the greatest amateur of them all. And perhaps Venturi will fall back into the pack. But for one day, at least, the pros were looking at the heels of a simon-pure.

Venturi's 66 is the best ever posted by an amateur in the Masters. But Middlecoff had a 65 last year and Lloyd Mangrum set the record in 1940 with a 64.

County Umpires Plan For Season

Plans for the coming season were discussed at a meeting of the Adams County Umpires Association Thursday evening at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St.

President William Gilbert announced another meeting will be held Wednesday evening, April 25, at the Legion Home at which time assignments will be given and dues collected from members.

Local Boxer Loses On 2nd Round TKO

Only one member of the Gettysburg Athletic Club saw action in the amateur boxing program at the Zombo Mosque, Harrisburg, Thursday evening.

Jake Smith, local 150-pounder, suffered a technical knockout in 1:20 of the second round at the hands of Tew Bitler, Reading. Smith gave his opponent plenty of trouble in the first round and had Bitler dazed at the end of the period. Bitler's left jab dazed the local scrapper in the second round which caused the referee to halt the affair.

SAN FRANCISCO — Charley Powell, 209, San Diego, stopped Charley Que, 188, Los Angeles, 3.
PHILADELPHIA — Bobby Singleton, 120, Philadelphia, stopped Cleo Ortiz, 118, New York, 3.

Free Throws Decisive
Veteran Frankie Brian put the punch in the Fort Wayne offense. He went in during the second quarter when it was a seesaw game and hit five field goals to help the Pistons to a 56-50 halftime lead.

Philadelphia edged back in the third quarter but still trailed 82-80 at the end of the period. The Warriors took the lead at 86-85 and stayed in front after that.

Free throws were the difference. Fort Wayne outscored the Warriors from the field, 38 to 34.

Navy Turns Down Offer On N-D Game

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Naval Academy, standing on its "principle" has refused to take up an offer by Carroll Rosenbloom, wealthy Baltimore Colts owner, to underwrite a sellout of the Navy-Notre Dame game here Nov. 3.

And the Colts, who have scheduled a professional football game with the Washington Redskins in the same stadium Nov. 4 despite wording in the Navy contract forbidding it, say they will leave settlement of the dispute up to the Baltimore Park Board.

Navy's contract for Baltimore Memorial Stadium forbids any stadium event five days before or one day after a scheduled Navy game. The Academy said its contract guarantee on use of Memorial Stadium—in effect for years—is to protect its ticket sale from any conflict.

Looks Favorable

Willing to spend money on park facilities if the majors assure them of long-range support—Laurel, Del., and Centerville, Crisfield, and Easton, Md.

"It looks highly favorable that something will jell this year," said Flowers after the meeting.

Under the rookie league proposal, the parent team would foot the bill for the entire operation of a farm club whose town provided a park with adequate lighting and other facilities. The league would be only for players with no previous professional baseball experience.

Further developments toward setting up the new circuit appear to hinge on talks between Flowers and officials of the clubs which have expressed interest in the idea—the Philadelphia Phillies, New York Yankees, Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Red Sox, Washington Senators, St. Louis Cardinals, and Baltimore Orioles.

8 CITIES IN PICTURE FOR ROOKIE LEAGUE

SEAFORD, Del. (AP)—Four cities were ready and at least four more willing today to set up baseball's first organized "rookie league."

At a meeting with Jake Flowers, spokesman for seven major league clubs interested in the idea, this picture was drawn last night by municipal representatives:

Sport Shorts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates pitching staff has shaped up well in spring exhibition games but Manager Bobby Bragan won't be satisfied until he sees more National League teams.

American League teams have provided most of the Pirates competition this spring, including eight games with Kansas City A's.

"They are going well," Bragan says of his mound staff, "but I'd like to see how they do against the top clubs in the National League."

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies have decided not to sign free agent Max Lanier, the old St. Louis Cardinals ace pitcher, who has been working out with them for the past three weeks.

One big reason, a team official indicated yesterday, is that the present crop of pitchers is showing up well. In addition, the club felt it could build nothing around the 40-year-old southpaw.

Money-Saving Deals, Prizes Highlight Big Range Sale

The biggest appliance sales of the year are under way in this area right now, and local dealers are going all-out to acquaint their customers with the unprecedented values and outstanding features of 1956 ranges.

During an extra special month-long activity, dealers are featuring a variety of money-saving offers on electric ranges and extending to their friends an unusual opportunity to win the electric range of their "Heart's Desire" absolutely free. Many other valuable prizes are being offered in the easy-to-enter contest.

The big electric range sale extends from April 2 to 30, giving people who have their hearts set on a modern range ample time to see the new models and to register for one of the wonderful prizes. There's nothing to buy, no statement to write, no questions to answer and every one has an equal chance to win.

Pick Out Favorite Range

All that is necessary to be eligible for a prize is to visit a dealer and pick out the range of your "Heart's Desire." It will have a number on it, printed on a big red heart. So just jot down the number on the entry blank along with your name and address at the store. That's all there is to it.

Picking out the electric range you would most like to own may not be easy, however, because all of them are so beautiful and all offer many tremendous improvements in their time-saving, work-saving features.

The new ranges come in a variety of pleasing pastel colors, as well as "whitest white," to add sparkle to any kitchen decor.

Control Temperature

Surface units this year are faster than ever before—faster than those of any other type of range, and certainly more automatic. They provide absolute temperature control, and can't possibly give off fumes and smoke to smudge utensils, walls and woodwork.

Ovens are roomier and some feature roast thermometers that automatically indicate exactly when meat is done to perfection. Vertical broilers also are in the spotlight this year, opening an entire new concept of cooking. Their operation is similar to that of a toaster, browning all sides of the meat at once without turning it.

Among other exciting features of the new ranges are infinite heat controls to permit exact temperature selection, built-in rotisseries for indoor barbecuing, deep well cookers for preparing entire meals in one utensil and a long list of additional advances that contribute to ease of meal preparation.

Enjoy Freedom

Simple automatic controls on all models permit the homemaker to enjoy greater freedom from kitchen duties than ever before. The homemaker can prepare entire meals, from meat to dessert, place them in the oven, set the automatic timer and go out visiting or shopping. She can be sure that her electric range will be on the job in her absence, and the food will be cooked just as

DEEP WELL ON RANGE OPENS UP COOKING VISTAS

One of the greatest time-saving, work-saving features on today's electric ranges is the deep well cooker, available as standard or optional equipment on most range models.

The deep well cooker, a five to seven quart covered utensil inserted in an insulated well, opens a whole new vista of cooking experience. It can cook a complete meal, tripling the surface cooking capacity of the range.

Here's an example of how the deep well cooker can lend new and greater flexibility to your electric cooking:

Two-in-One Job

Place meat into the lower part of the cooker and at the same time place a pudding in a pan in the upper part of the utensil. (Don't worry, there's no transfer of flavors.)

When the pudding is done, remove it and place large vegetables like carrots, potatoes and onions around the meat until it has been thoroughly cooked.

Thus, in this one utensil and with one heat, you have cooked meat, vegetables and dessert to a delicious "doneness." Now bring out a crisp green salad, chilled in the refrigerator, and you have a highly nutritious and supremely palatable meal.

Has Many Uses

Although the deep well cooker was designed primarily for long slow cooking which transforms less expensive foods into really tempting dishes, it has many other uses. It is the perfect electric utensil for braising and simmering meats and for cooking both fresh and dried fruits and vegetables baby foods, cereals, beverages. In addition the modern homemaker likes it for deep fat frying, for steaming, for blanching foods in preparation for freezing and it's wonderful for warming foods, for preserving, for sterilizing and even for heating water.

ELECTRIC RANGE CONTROLS HEAT; COOKS BETTER

Made possible by the precise heat control found only on electric ranges, there is a genuinely new way to cook vegetables that is the best method yet devised to preserve their rich flavor, bright color and rich nutrition.

The method is really very simple:

First, go easy on water. Usually average "batch" of broccoli, carrots, potatoes and the like.

Next, cover and start cooking on the "high" setting and continue at that speed until the water begins to steam.

Switch To "Low"

Then switch to the "low" setting and steam vegetables until tender. When the vegetables are done, there will be very little water to pour off and therefore only a fraction of the loss of food value that occurs when vegetables are "drowned" in deep water.

Furthermore, the steam-cooked vegetables will have a fine, firm texture — never the flat, soggy taste that comes when they are submerged in a whole panful of water.

The new way to cook is the most economical way, too, because the "high" setting is used only briefly on today's fast-heating range elements, and the remainder of the cooking is done at the money-saving slow speed.

Only an electric range permits

Red Hearts Indicate Electric Range Sale

Next time you're shopping downtown or in your neighborhood appliance store, look for the bright red hearts. It might be your lucky day!

The hearts identify dealers who are taking part in a spectacular month-long sale of smartly styled electric ranges that are packed with extra features to make cooking a breeze.

Stop in where you see the hearts and learn how you can win the absolute heat control necessary for this kind of cooking, however, because it is the only kind with heat that never varies from the setting you choose, assuring perfect results time after time.

COOK A STEAK IN 60 SECONDS

A steak cooked in a minute! Eggs scrambled in half a minute!

Frozen foods thawed in seconds!

These are only a few of the miraculous cooking feats performed by an amazing new kind of range that cooks foods in incredibly short times and is now available to reduce the cooking chores of every housewife.

electric range of your own choice absolutely free of all costs. There's nothing to buy, no obligation and everyone has an equal chance to win valuable prizes!

The electronic range, born of the tremendous technological advances of World War II, works its cooking magic through the use of deep-penetrating microwave energy produced by an electronic unit similar to that of a radar set.

The enormous possibilities of the new range are only beginning to be realized. As their use becomes more widespread, homemakers everywhere will enjoy freedom from kitchen duties to a far greater extent than ever dreamed possible before.

Speedy Cooking

Actual cooking speeds are so fast that they almost stagger the imagination. A ham steak, fish fillet or pork chop cooks in one minute; a six-ounce potato bakes in two minutes; chicken bakes at 2½ minutes per pound; and a 12-ounce filet mignon is done in 55 seconds.

Frozen foods can be thawed and prepared foods reheated in a minute or less!

The electronic range certainly is destined for increasing production and popularity in the years to come, adding many hours of leisure to the lives of homemakers and reducing meal preparation to one of the simplest, fastest functions in the home.

Micro-wave cooking is another important contribution to the American standard of living that has come about through the combined efforts of the appliance and the electrical industries, who work together as a team to make life more convenient and more enjoyable.

Automatic Range Features Give Homemakers Time, Fun

By MRS. ELIZABETH WIBLE
MECO Home Economist

There are so many wonderful features on the new electric ranges that it's almost impossible to pick out any one thing as the outstanding work-saver or time-saver. If we had to select one, though, I believe we'd choose the automatic timer, because it helps perform the "cooking magic" that makes meal preparation so much easier than ever before.

The reason we all like this almost magic device so much, I think, is because we can pop a meal into the oven and walk away to other tasks or to a book, a movie, shopping or a visit—and come back to a completely cooked meal. And if you think that isn't a boon to the busy homemaker and business and professional woman whose time is at a premium—just ask anyone who owns an electric range with this automatic feature.

The timer controls the oven and in some cases the deep well cooker and the appliance outlet. With this latter feature you may have coffee freshly brewed for the minute you step a foot in the kitchen in the morning.

But one of the biggest reasons for the popularity of this automatic "Aladdin's Lamp" of your kitchen is its ability to cook an oven meal. Now the oven meal itself has had widespread favor through the years because (1) it requires only one heat and makes full use of that heat, (2) it brings a welcome change to menu planning and meal preparation, and (3) it needs so little attention (even with manual oven operation).

With the modern automatic electric timer we can revise that third reason for the oven meal's popularity to say: It requires no attention whatsoever after the electric controls are set. Homemakers can slide dinner into the oven, set the controls and be away from the kitchen the entire day, knowing that at the proper time, cooking will proceed just as if you were right there.

The wonderful thing about this controlled method of oven baking is that the oven will turn on automatically at exactly the time the cooking should start and the thermostat will maintain it at the required temperature throughout the required cooking time. At the proper time the oven will automatically shut off. When you walk in the door you'll need only to take the food out of the oven, bring a chilled salad from your refrigerator and then sit down to a well-prepared and appetizing meal!

Although such an oven meal is

FORESEE CHANGE IN PREPARATION OF HOME MEALS

Definite changes in cooking habits of the modern homemaker are forecast as the result of the many new features on 1956 electric ranges now being shown by appliance dealers everywhere. All of the innovations are designed to make cooking easier and more convenient for the busy housewife.

Most sensational of the new developments is the electronic range which literally cooks in seconds. Microwave operated, on the same principal as a radar set, the electronic range fries bacon in 10 seconds, bakes a potato in 8 minutes and roasts a standing rib roast to golden doneness in 30 minutes.

While this almost unheard of speed is available in special electronic ovens being marketed by but two manufacturers at present, it is indicative of the tremendous advances being made in this all-electric age. It is expected that all leading manufacturers will be offering this type range for installation in any home by the end of the year.

Add Other Features
Meanwhile other astounding features have been added to electric ranges, including the development of conventional heating units guaranteed to cook at least 20 per cent faster than any other method.

Cooking speed, while important to the busy housewife, is only one of the new features being shown by local appliance dealers. The need for having an exact temperature at all times is met by the new infinite heat controls which give pinpoint regulation from 600 degrees right down to "warm." With this control the cook not only is assured of being able to measure the heat with the same exactness as used in measuring other ingredients called for by the recipe, but also knows she can duplicate that same temperature whenever she uses her electric range.

Not only beautiful, but functional are the new French style oven doors, which first appeared on built-in units and are now available on some standard models. These doors open outward, instead of downward by means of a gentle pull on either door. At the same time the middle oven rack slides out for "stoopless" use.

An Easier Method
Vertical broiling is an easier method of catering to the taste for deliciously broiled food. It consists of an upright grille between two heating elements which broils meat much the same way a toaster toasts usually flavorful and satisfying, the preparation requires no special technique. It's merely a matter of planning good combinations.

Roasts, chops, and fowl which need no preliminary browning are ideal for this sort of meal. Ground ham or beef loaves may be used if prepared a day or two ahead and frozen—just remove from home freezer and put directly into the oven. Vegetables may also be served in many different ways and complete a hearty and tempting main course. Among the popular and successful oven meal dishes are potatoes baked in their skins . . . but why not for variety's sake have them fried, or scalloped?

For dessert . . . how about baked fresh or dried fruit or rice, bread or cake crumb pudding. Brown Betty or an apple pie. Any of these is a nice way to complete an oven meal cooked the automatic way . . . and one that was cooked when you were away from home.

Why don't you try an automatic appliance retailer will be glad to demonstrate one for you.

Cites Broiler Features

William Timmins, manager of M. A. Hartley and Co., distributors for Gibson electric stoves in Adams County, says, "The 1956 Gibson Verti-Broiler with its new features is the only range on the market with this most modern development in electrical cooking."

"The Gibson Verti-Broiler fits practically every range made by Gibson. No need to buy a special range to get this newest, most modern development in broiling electrically. The Verti-Broiler may be bought separately and inserted into any Gibson oven, regardless of the age of stove."

"Foods prepared in the 'Verti-Broiler' afford a new taste thrill, a new adventure in eating. Now sear both sides of the meat at the same time—sealing in all the natural juices and flavor that give meat its delicious taste. Prepare meat in half the time."

"Adjustable heating element enable you to broil meats to your own individual taste—from 'well done' bread. Gourmets hall it because this method broils both sides at the same time, thus sealing in all tasty and healthful juices which are lost by one-side broiling."

Something which has usually been considered in the dream stage, is provided by an elevator oven on one model electric range. The oven is built into a cabinet whose top can be used as a work surface. When advance preparations are completed, a button is pushed and the oven raises right up to the most convenient height for the cook. It stays there until the meal is completed and then can be sent back out of the way. Real convenient.

And there are such pleasing ideas as a hinged heating element which raises for cleaning; the built-in meat thermometer that signals when the roast is done; the built-in rotisseries which give a delightful barbecue flavor; and of course the various types of self-regulating units which make electric the only fully automatic cooking.

Use Fashion Colors
Even more sensational are the many decorator colors being applied to all types of ranges. To fully appreciate the beauty which can be put into your kitchen and the convenience which you can gain, it is necessary to see these 1956 electric ranges in action.

Visit your nearest dealer and not only learn about the new marvels of electricity, but also get a free chance on one of these "heart's desire" electric ranges. During April every "Reddy Dealer" is giving free chances on electric ranges and electric fry pans. Absolutely no obligation to buy.

Pineapple, bananas and strawberries make a delicious dessert. Nice for a change: sliced dates added to bran-muffin batter.

MUCH EASIER THESE DAYS TO LEARN TO COOK

Times may change, but that old saying about "the way to a man's heart" still holds true.

At one time or another in her life, just about every girl has to learn to cook. Back in grand-mother's, and even mother's, time, the learning was not so easy. It required long hours of patient instruction before a flaming stove, and there were many trials and errors before they could proudly display the results of their efforts on the family dinner table.

The chances are that the youngsters and their teachers did not realize that many of their failures were not the fault of the "apprentice cook" but of the range she had to use.

Nowadays, things are different. Of course, it still requires skill to cook and it's still a worthy accomplishment to learn to cook well. Today, the skill is required in mixing and blending ingredients and selecting new and exciting menus for the family, because the electric range has removed the element of doubt from the range.

Easy For Youths
Even very young cooks can experience the thrill of having their first attempts at cooking turn out perfectly.

And why not? If the recipe was followed carefully, there's no reason why youngsters of 10 can't have the same success as their mothers.

The young daughter soon will discover that cooking electrically is not a chore but an opportunity to delight the whole family by spending a few minutes in the kitchen.

With the trend more and more toward completely packaged food-stuffs, baking a birthday cake may require little more than opening the cake-mix box, assembling pans, adding liquid and setting the automatic range. For instance, one recipe on a popular cake mix reads: Heat oven to 350°.

Grease pans generously and dust with flour.

Empty package contents into bowl. Blend in 1/2 cup water and 1 unbeaten egg white.

Beat 2 minutes (in electric mixer) on medium speed.

Blend in another 1/2 cup water and 1 unbeaten egg white.

Beat 2 more minutes.

Bake 25 minutes.

That's all there is to it!

For that matter, even a 10-year old can proudly announce that she has cooked a complete turkey dinner, even though it be a pre-packaged and frozen dinner that needs only to be heated and served. Her total work would be to set the proper temperature for the auto-

CIRCUS OPENS; GLITTER GONE

NEW YORK (AP)—The circus opened Wednesday night without its most famous clown and with none of the stage, screen and television stars who usually take part in the premiere benefit performance. A dispute involving the American Guild of Variety Artists kept the sad-faced tramp clown Emmett Kelly away. This time there was no Kelly to get the children chuckling right away by trying to sweep a spotlight beam under a rug.

But Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey's circus was as glittering and beshagled as ever without the glamorous frosting of outside stars who were to perform for the benefit of the Police Athletic League.

Stripped of this ballyhoo, the opening night turned out to be just plain circus—more than enough of it.

Survey Reveals Housewives' Preference Of Electric Range; Notes Today's Cooking Trend

Proof that today's trend in cooking is overwhelmingly to electric was provided recently in a survey that included interviews with residents of this area.

The study was made by an independent research organization which sent its experts into a true cross-section of homes representing families in all walks of life and a full range of income. All types of dwellings both old and new were visited in all sizes of cities, suburbs and rural areas.

The interviewers discovered that virtually 100 per cent of homemakers now cooking electrically have every intention of continuing to do so, and more than 20 per cent of people using fuel type ranges plan to make their next range electric.

Learn From Friends

When the reasons for such a pronounced trend were probed, it was found that those who intend to switch to electric cooking will do so because they have learned from their friends, neighbors and appliance dealers about the cleanliness, safety and convenience of electric cooking. They want to share the benefits of the modern electric way to prepare meals.

Among the great and growing group of homemakers who already have switched to electric cooking, more than half of those interviewed declared that they prefer their electric range because it is cleaner, easier to keep clean and has no odor. They praised the way in which their cooking utensils and the range itself stay shining clean because there is absolutely no smoke or soot when an electric range is used. Many also mentioned the fact that their walls, woodwork, cabinets and kitchen curtains stay clean far longer, drastically reducing hard scrubbing and saving money by greatly lengthening the time between necessary kitchen repainting and redecorating.

Others were quick to mention that their electric ranges give off no unpleasant fumes or odors that can make a kitchen stuffy and unhealthy when combustion is required for cooking.

Appreciate Safety

The survey specialists found a second cleanliness, electric users were most appreciative of the safety of electric cooking. Homemakers said they had greater peace of mind when they did not have to worry about open flames and the possibility of dangerous fumes escaping. Those with children were especially grateful for this advantage.

"More modern" was another phrase often used by people who have made the change to electric cooking. Asked to elaborate upon the point, many observed that they also used electricity for heating their water, washing and drying their clothes, air conditioning and hundreds of other household purposes, and they recognized that what is sometimes called "electric living" is the only kind of life that is truly up-to-date and capable of keeping up with these fast-moving times.

The ladies also were enthusiastic about the extreme good looks of the new model electric ranges, both the conventional and built-in models. They cited the smart decorator colors of the new ranges as a desirable feature that adds lively beauty to kitchens and fits in perfectly with their kitchen decorating schemes. Also, the streamlined beauty of the new models came in for its share of praise.

Need Kitchen Comfort

With hot weather never too far away, homemakers in this area are ever mindful of the need for kitchen comfort. Those who had changed recently from flame-type ranges to electric said they would never have withstood the muggy, humid atmosphere in their kitchens of years past if they had only

A Perfect Cherry Pie Every Time

Mrs. Homemaker can be certain of exactly the same excellent results every time from the roasty oven of her electric range, because only electricity can be measured with the same exactness as other ingredients in the recipe. There's no hit-or-miss, no failures caused by erratic, uneven heat that wastes expensive recipe ingredients. Electric heat is distributed evenly throughout the oven, endowing baked goods with a tantalizing golden hue every time.

known how much of a difference electric cooking could make. When told that tests showed electric cooking reduced kitchen temperatures by eight to 16 degrees, according to scientific tests, many felt that the test results probably were on the conservative side, because they were sure the change in their own kitchens was even greater.

That electric ranges do a better job in all kinds of cooking was clearly evident from replies to survey questions. Some stated that they never before had been able to get exactly the same results every time with the same recipe until they began cooking electrically, adding that they were sure electric range controls and heating elements were more reliable and precise than any other kind. Those who were avid bakers were lavish in their praise of the even heat distributed throughout their electric range ovens which enabled them to turn out pies and cakes of the same delightful golden hue time after time without dark or light spots caused by erratic flame-type ovens.

The easy-to-use automatic controls on their electric ranges were termed a blessing by many housewives who said they were too busy for the incessant "pot-watching" required by other ranges. They liked to prepare their foods, even complete oven meals, set the controls and hurry away to more pleasant activities, secure in the knowledge that their electric range would turn on the heat, cook the food perfectly, and turn the heat off again while they were away. Only with an electric range, many said, would they have sufficient confidence that nothing would "go wrong" to spoil their meal or even cause more serious consequences.

DUTIES LIGHT WITH RANGES

Glamorous new electric ranges that think while they cook promise to brighten the kitchen as well as lighten the work load of modern homemakers. A survey of the latest models now being featured by local appliance dealers disclosed this week.

The almost limitless selection of smartly styled models, some with one oven and others with two, gives every indication that automatic cooking is no longer a dream, but a reality.

Simple clock controls on new electric ranges turn on the oven, cook the meal and have food piping hot whenever the homemaker is ready to serve meals. And the same "robot" control can be used to start the morning coffee perking, if the electric coffeemaker is plugged into an outlet on the range the night before.

Color styling, large ovens. Color styling and larger ovens are among other new trends to be discovered by 1956 buyers of electric ranges.

More and more of the industry's big names, too, are entering the field of built-in surface cooking and oven units. Units are being made that can be installed quickly and economically in new or old homes. In some cases the total cost of an oven and four individual surface units, without installation, is less than many free-standing deluxe ranges.

The population of the Republic of Ireland has been virtually unchanged since 1926.

SUMMER MEALS ARE REALLY NOT COOKING TRICKS

If spring comes, can cooking problems be far behind?

That's paraphrasing a familiar line of verse, but for the lady of the house, it holds more truth than poetry.

As sunny, spring-like days become more frequent, homemakers everywhere are asking:

"Where can I find hot-weather menus that will please my family, be tasty and nutritious without making me a slave to my kitchen all summer?"

Immediately then, most homemakers start thinking about salads as the first road to escape from the discomfort of summer cooking. It works . . . for a while. But soon the male side of the family begins to think about cooked meats, baked potatoes and the other things that "stick to the ribs."

Provide Hot Meals

And that brings up the question, how to provide the hot meals they like. Well, the secret of summertime comfort for homemakers is not what you cook but how you cook. A sure recipe for summertime comfort for meal-makers (and for year-round convenience) is cool, clean electric cooking! Tests conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture have proved that kitchens in which the cooking is done electrically are 8 to 16 degrees cooler than other kitchens. As a result, the family enjoys favorite meals year-round without undue discomfort for the homemaker.

Heat stays inside the electric oven with its six-sided insulation to cook the meals and not the cook. And, in the top surface units the nature of electric cooking is such that the heat goes into the pots and pans and not up and around them to heat the kitchen as it does in old-fashioned cooking equipment. This sort of cooking perfection maintains many-degrees-lower kitchen heat and a great deal more comfort.

for the homemaker when really hot weather arrives. Kitchens can be just as cool and airy as any other room in the home even though a man-size dinner is in preparation.

Added to the comfort of your kitchen is the enjoyment of having extra hours through automatic electric cooking, to spend as you wish. A swim . . . a cool movie . . . or sewing in your favorite shady spot . . . while dinner cooks automatically . . . perfectly . . . alone. In fact, whole meals can be put in the oven in the cool of the morning, the timer is set so that the range will start, cook and stop automatically . . . by itself.

Typical of the meals that can be served this effortless way are the following:

Temperature — 350° for 1 hour
Crispy Oven Fried Chicken
Baked Potatoes — Broccoli
Devils Food Cake — Snow White
Baked Meringue Icing
Baking Powder Biscuits or
Serve with this a garden salad (watercress-lettuce-tomatoes with french dressing)
Temperature — 375°
— 50-60 minutes
Oven Baked Salmon Croquettes
Cheese Sauce
Steamed Fresh Carrots
and Green Beans
Honey Dressing
Cherry Upside-Down Cake
Serve with this a Grapefruit-Orange Sections and Date Salad

Thus, electrically, you can offer menus with a change of pace, prepared with practically the same comfort and ease as cold salads or sandwiches . . . while providing hot, nutritious and appetizing meals.

Housework Easier The Electrical Way

Most homemakers probably have dreams of freedom from routine housekeeping drudgery, of having leisure hours for relaxation and entertainment. They can make those dreams come true by living electrically.

With electrical appliances working, housekeeping becomes an easier and more pleasant task. A

ELECTRIC RANGE IS COMFORTABLE TO USE; CLEAN

Comfort is only one of the reasons for today's overwhelming trend to electric cooking. Homemakers seem to be most enthusiastic about the cleanliness of electric cooking. The absence of smoke and soot, they have found, cuts cleaning time to a minimum. Kitchens stay bright and clean longer, requiring repainting and redecorating less frequently.

The economy of electric range operation also is praised by homemakers. Exceptionally thick insulation on all sides of the oven keeps heat inside the range and prevents overheating of exterior surfaces. Also, the dependable, even electric heat reduces meat shrinkage and food wasted by cooking failures.

There are electric ranges to fit every budget, and the special offers that dealers are featuring right now make this an exceptionally fine time to buy.

Kitchens Stay Cool

Kitchens stay 8 to 16 degrees cooler, when you cook electrically, than with any other type of cooking.

flick of the switch or twist of the dial and electric servants are on the job. The electric laundry appliances complete washing in a matter of minutes, with just a little help from the homemaker.

An electric range cooks meals perfectly with scarcely any attention and the electric disposer and dishwasher take care of the after-dinner cleaning chores. These are a few of the countless electrical appliances that take the drudgery out of homemaking.

ing. These findings come from a series of tests conducted by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture, reported in Technical Bulletin No. 1073. For those homemakers with unhappy memories of overheated summer afternoons cooking with old-fashioned ranges that's a piece of news to brighten the summer outlook.

Just an idea of what that means, you would have to melt 3,620 pounds of ice in your kitchen every 24 hours, while cooking with non-electric methods, to reduce kitchen temperatures to electric range heat levels.

For the millions of families planning to install air conditioning units, the coolness of electric cooking is important for still another reason. Extensive tests conducted by a famous manufacturer's research people have shown that families cooking electrically can get the same cooking results with a 1/3 HP smaller air conditioning unit than when cooking with other types of ranges. That means lower initial cost and, of course, lower operating costs. Reasons for these lower temperature levels when your range is electric are simple:

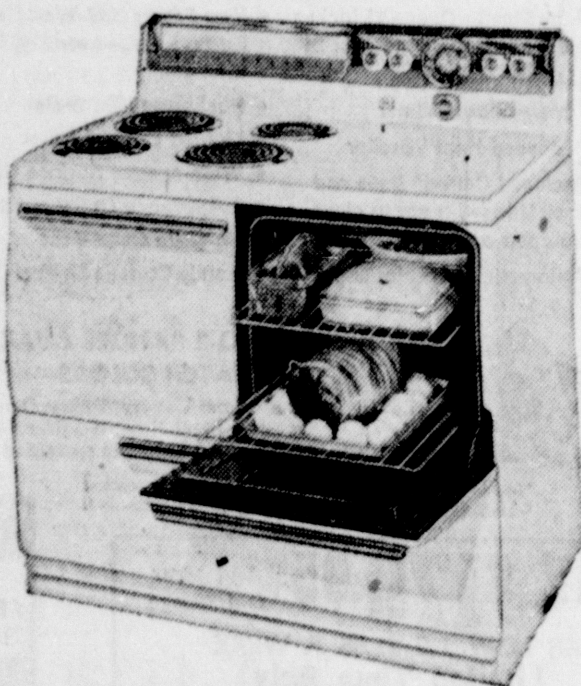

No Pilot, No Vapor

One is the fact that the pan or other cooking vessel is in direct contact with the electric cooking surface unit so that practically all the heat goes directly into the food. Helping is the fact that electric ranges have no pilot burners to add heat to the kitchen day and night. Finally, electric cooking using minimum quantities of water produces practically no water vapor, thus keeps humidity down.

A resulting benefit, and an important one, is that an electric range is clean, since there are no waste fumes or fuel to darken finishes or dull and dirty drapes and curtains.

Color, Time-Saving Devices Enhance New Electric Ranges

Exciting... colorful... truly breath-taking! Those are the words being used by hundreds of home-makers in this area to describe the new electric ranges now being featured by appliance dealers here.

Thrilling new styles and colors and an array of genuine improvements in operation have combined to arouse unprecedented interest in the new models, dealers say.

Color is the keynote for '56, with most brands available in a selection of cheery pastel hues that blend perfectly with any kitchen decorating scheme, but folks who prefer their ranges of "whitest white" still have a complete choice of styles.

Some ranges this year are offering "infinite heat controls," permitting the selection of any temperature personally preferred to give the most perfect cooking results in oven or surface-prepared recipes. The new controls offer pin-point accuracy in temperature cooking and more complete control than standard settings.

Automatic self-regulating units also are being featured, making time-wasting "pot watching" a thing of the past. The new units automatically turn the heat off or on to maintain the exact temperature desired on the bottom of the utensil, eliminating burning or sticking of foods.

Steaks now are broiled to perfection on one of the new vertical broilers. Hamburgers, frankfurters and other meats can be prepared in the same marvelous broiler, which cooks all sides of meat at the same time without turning. The vertical broiler not only saves time but it also assures better broiling results by applying even electric heat at just the right temperature, whether rare, medium or well-done meats are desired.

Ovens, too, are vastly improved. In addition to an over-all increase in oven roominess, there are new French doors which open outward instead of downward. A gentle pull on either door opens both doors and at the same time causes the oven rack to glide outward. That ingenious arrangement ends awkward stooping to place foods in the oven or to inspect or remove them.

In addition, there are new elevator ovens that are the very last word in convenience. Just press a button and the entire oven moves up to any position desired for "loading" or removing foods. Press another button and the oven returns to cabinet-top level, where its own top can be used as additional work space.

In designing new features for the 1956 models, electric range manufacturers did not overlook speed of operation. There are new units that are faster than ever before—proved faster than any other type of range.

Some ranges come equipped with automatic rotary roasters as standard or optional equipment, opening a whole new vista of "indoor-barbecue" type cooking. They will barbecue turkeys, chickens, roasts, lobster tails, hot dogs and other favorites, with all of the distinctive taste and only a fraction of the attention required by other barbecue methods.

All of the new ranges, which embrace these and many other wonderful features that save time and work for the homemaker, are being featured now by local dealers, who are offering their customers a variety of special deals.

Never before have ranges offered so many outstanding conveniences, and never before has there been a better time to buy than now!

Any Utensils Will Do For Electricity

Special utensils are not necessary in electric cooking. When buying them, it is a good idea to look for these points in surface utensils. The most efficient ones for surface cooking are those with flat bottoms, straight sides and tight-fitting covers.

The utensils should fit the surface heating unit so that the heat will go directly into the pan instead of escaping around the sides and into the air. A tight-fitting cover holds steam in the pan, prevents the escape of moisture and hastens the cooking time.

For oven roasting, open pans used for baking may be used. Covers are unnecessary. Meats retain their juices and no basting is required when they are roasted at about 320 degrees. For casserole dishes or vegetables, heat-proof dishes should be used.

Metal pans used for baking should be bright and smooth to give the best baking results. If pans are warped, uneven baking and browning may result. To assure even heat distribution around pans they should be arranged so that they do not touch each other or the oven sides. When two racks are used, the pans should alternate on the racks.

Don't 'Drown' Your Vegetables!

Cooked properly, vegetables never have that soggy, flat taste that can cast gloom over an entire meal. The "secret" of correct vegetable cooking is as simple as one, two, three. First, go easy on water—generally half a cup is enough. Second, cover and start cooking on the high setting. Third, when the water begins to steam, switch to the low setting and steam until tender. In that way, vegetables retain full flavor, color and nutritional value.

BROILER MAKES FOOD FAT-FREE; MORE HEALTHFUL

Exact controls permit setting the broiler for a period to produce steak rare, medium, or well done, for example, and it doesn't need to be turned or examined during the cooking period. Perfection is practically insured.

No Messy Pan In addition to these food-wise advantages, Mrs. Cartwright says the vertical broiler overcomes the primary objection to broiling: The unpleasant job of cleaning a messy broiler pan. Here there is none.

Procedures for vertical broiling recommended by Mrs. Cartwright include preparing the food as usual, and preheating the oven for five minutes on "high" before placing the rack in the oven.

She recommends salt seasoning after steaks or chops are done, but suggests brushing poultry or fish with butter or other basting liquid before placing it in the vertical rack.

To baste while broiling is underway, the rack can be pulled out, rested on the tray provided, and barbecue or other sauce spooned on in customary fashion.

Simultaneous Preparation Vertical broiling invites simultaneous preparation of vegetables or other foods which thrive on meat fat seasoning. Vegetables can be placed in a casserole dish which slides under the vertical broiler, and they can be flavored by the meat as they heat. These vegetables should be cooked previously, and placed in the pan for heating and flavoring only.

Sliced, cooked sweet potatoes can acquire added flavor from ham or chops. To speed meat preparation, use canned sweet potatoes. Sprinkle them with brown sugar as usual but do not add butter as the meat fat will suffice. French-cut green beans can be readied similarly while ham is broiling.

Mrs. Cartwright also suggests a combination of sauerkraut and

What does this accomplish besides making broiling faster? Mrs. Jessie Cartwright, noted home service director, cites these advantages of the vertical, "both sides at once," broiling innovation: 1. More juice is retained in the meat than in horizontal one-side-at-a-time broiling. This improved flavor, reinforcing one of the two main reasons for broiling—the resulting tastiness.

2. Meat shrinkage is reduced. Exhaustive tests show the weight loss is reduced to a minimum.

3. Eye appeal of the food is improved. In horizontal broiling, for instance, it is difficult to keep edges of ham steaks from curling and juices from burning. This problem is eliminated in the vertical broiling method introduced by Norge, the meat is fastened in place in the rack and broiling time is much shorter.

4. Mechanical advantages of this method of broiling are numerous.

BUILT-IN RANGE MAKES KITCHEN MODERN, SMART

The beauty and flexibility of modern built-in ranges are capturing the heart and imagination of today's homemakers.

People who are building new homes or remodeling old ones are discovering that no matter what shape their kitchen, there is a built-in range to fit in perfectly, adding streamlined good looks to any decorating scheme.

The new ranges not only are beautiful, but they represent an important forward step in appliance efficiency. Ovens can be built right into the wall at the most convenient level for any homemaker, and the surface units can be built into the counter top anywhere and in any number desired. In addition, many manufacturers are offering built-in griddles and deep-well cookers as part of the counter top equipment.

Arranged to save steps and motions, they also conserve space in the kitchen, permitting a truly modern placement of furnishings that is compact and handy.

Of course, the electric "built-ins" possess all the other wonderful features of more conventional electric ranges—cleanliness, speed, accuracy, efficiency and safety.

Architects and decorators are sparingly. Place the ribs in the broiling rack and canned sauerkraut in the pan beneath. Sprinkle the sauerkraut with two tablespoons of sugar and one teaspoon of caraway seeds. Barbecue sauce can be spread over the sauerkraut if desired.

The spareribs should be basted with sauce the last five minutes of broiling time.

Flame Cooking Robs Air From Kitchen

Tests by a leading manufacturer of ranges show that flame-type cooking makes a kitchen stuffy and unhealthy very rapidly because such ranges require 10.3 cubic feet of air for every cubic foot of fuel burned.

Burning of a cubic foot of fuel also adds .01 pound of water vapor to the air, adding unpleasant humidity in the kitchen no matter what the weather outdoors.

Because there is no combustion, electric ranges require absolutely no air for operation, and, for the same reason, give off no water vapor.

Wins New Electric Range In Contest

In a contest held recently by a West Coast electric company, housewives were asked to complete the sentence "I want an electric range because..." in 25 words or less.

The winning entry?

"I want an electric range because I'd like to be able to cook the dinner, clean the kitchen, and still have the energy to be bewitching!"

Judges felt she certainly deserved her prize—a beautiful new electric range.

recommending electric "built-ins" because they provide the flexibility of kitchen arrangement that enables them to plan kitchens more than ever to the exact tastes of the homemaker.

People who are planning to build or remodel are well advised that only electric models supply all the advantages of "built-in" appliances because it is the only fuel that is flameless. One glance will show why it is the appliance that is winning the heart of America.

BIG RANGE SALE NOW GOING ON

Because they are anxious to acquaint their customers with the striking new beauty and convenient new features of the 1956 electric ranges, appliance dealers in this area are conducting a gigantic range sale lasting throughout the month of April.

During the sale, dealers are featuring a variety of money-saving offers on ranges and extending to their customers an opportunity to win a beautiful electric range or other valuable prizes in an easy-to-enter contest.

Since the electric range is the "heart of the home," the spectacular activity is built around the "Heart's Desire" theme. Ranges displayed in local stores have big red hearts affixed to them and there is a number written on each heart.

That's where the contest comes in. Just visit your dealer and look over the new ranges. Then jot down the number of the one your heart desires and your name and address. Hand in the entry and that's all there is to it!

The hardest part may be picking out the range you'd most like to have, because there are so many delightful new features—speedier units, roomier ovens, French door ovens, verticle broilers, elevator ovens, built-in rotisseries, automatic deep well cookers, roast thermometers, and dozens more features.

This might be your lucky day. Visit your dealer and sign up for the big contest. There's nothing to buy and certainly no obligation, and the very least reward

Reports No Findings In Probe Of Crash

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board official investigating the crash of a Trans World Airliner that took 22 lives Sunday says he has not released any information concerning the tragedy. Joseph O. Fluet, chief CAB investigator, on Tuesday refused to deny or confirm published reports that the plane's left engine failed after taking off from Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

"It is not our policy to reveal our findings prior to a public hearing," Fluet said. "I personally interviewed the pilot (Capt. Raymond McQuade, 33, of Red Bank, N. J.) and have not released any information."

Coroner William D. McClelland of Allegheny County said the last of the 22 bodies had been identified and released for burial. He said he would hold a public inquest on the crash "as early as possible."

REORGANIZE JSGC

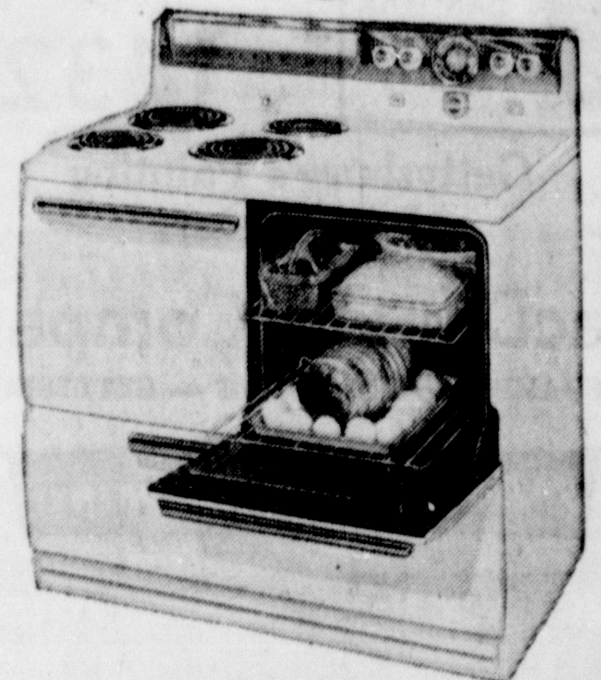

HARRISBURG (AP)—A proposal seeking reorganization of the Joint State Government Commission was passed unanimously by the Senate last night.

Under the plan studies undertaken by the commission would be handled by standing committees of the House and Senate.

HARRISBURG (AP)—A House-Senate committee compromise allowing farmers a 100 per cent refund on state tax paid for gasoline used on the farm was approved last night by the House.

SIX FIREMEN CRUSHED WHEN WALL TUMBLES

By RAY KOHN
NEW YORK (AP)—A wall collapsed during a roaring blaze which gutted a Bronx factory building Wednesday night. Six firemen were crushed to death and 13 others were injured.

Fire Commissioner Edward J. Cavanagh Jr., struck by a flying brick, saw six of his men buried under an avalanche of debris. Five died as they reached a hospital. The sixth man died a few minutes later.

The five-alarm blaze broke out shortly after 8 p.m. in the basement of a one-story, 40-by-80-foot brick structure occupied by an artificial flower manufacturing firm. Firemen fought for 3 1/4 hours to put it out.

Some Jumped Clear
The crashing wall cut power lines and snuffed out street lights. Some 60 firemen battled on in darkness and choking smoke.

Cavanagh, saying the fire took the worst toll of lives in the department in 24 years, ordered an immediate investigation.

Firemen were scrambling up half a dozen ladders hoisted against the 25-foot-high roof when someone yelled "Watch it!" A 20-by-15-foot marquee on the building, which used to house a movie theater, suddenly ripped clear and brought a large section of the wall with it. Then the entire front wall went down.

Ladders Heaved Away
Ladders were heaved outward as the marquee gave way. Some firemen were thrown to comparative safety or jumped clear.

Fireman Joseph O'Keefe said he

CEASE-FIRE APPEAL BY U. N. HALTS SHOOTING

JERUSALEM (P)—New firing broke out today between Israeli and Egyptian troops along the Gaza strip frontier but a U. N. cease-fire appeal apparently halted the shooting.

The renewal of violence was reported from the Kissufim sector, in which the Egyptians earlier claimed Israeli troops killed 42 civilians yesterday and wounded 103 others.

Both Egypt and Israel blamed the other for renewal of the firing.

But the Israelis, in the message to the chairman of the Egyptian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission, said they had issued cease-fire orders "in compliance with your personal request."

"If Egypt again breaks the cease-fire arrangement, fire will be returned," the Israeli message added.

An Israeli military spokesman said an Egyptian position in the Gaza strip opened up with heavy machine gun fire at an Israeli unit. He said "fire was returned at these positions."

A dispatch from Cairo quoted an Egyptian military spokesman that Israeli artillery began shelling Egyptian positions in the coastal strip and that the firing was continuing.

There was no immediate report of casualties in the latest action.

Bridge Commission Probe Is Expensive

HARRISBURG (P)—A proposed $25,000 appropriation for investigation of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission is believed excessive by House Republicans.

The House yesterday postponed indefinitely a vote on the grant for expenses of a legislative investigating committee.

GOP Leader Smith termed the $25,000 figure as "seemingly completely out of line with past experience."

He pointed out that previous legislative inquiries this session, "which included extensive open hearings," only cost about $8,000 each. He suggested that Democrats supply a breakdown of the proposed expenditures.

Defending the $25,000 grant, Chairman Polen (D-Washington) of the Appropriations Committee said that "a good part" of it would be needed to pay for a special audit planned by the committee.

Kissufim is a collective settlement on the Israeli side of the armistice demarcation line.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said the "renewed opening of fire this morning by Egyptian forces constitutes a flagrant breach of the cease-fire agreed upon only yesterday evening."

"It appears," he declared, "that the Egyptians are determined to keep the situation on boil and we are back again at a state of affairs of the last four months during which the Egyptian dictator has persistently refused to instruct his troops to observe a U. N. order."

Egypt Makes Charges

The cease-fire he cited was urgently called for yesterday by the U. N. Palestine truce chief, Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, after Egypt charged Israel with one of the heaviest attacks since the 1949 Palestine War. The latest outburst came as Burns awaited the arrival of his chief, U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, coming to the Middle East to seek ways of easing tension between Israel and the Arab states.

Burns had set last midnight as the deadline for compliance with his order. An earlier dispatch from Ain Hashlosa in southwestern Israel said yesterday's artillery duel had ended at nightfall and only intermittent rifle fire broke an eerie silence in the tense area during the night.

GRAND JURORS HEAR OFFICER

SCRANTON, Pa. (P)—Testimony from an Army officer and a host of other witnesses was being considered today by the federal grand jury probing alleged irregularities in construction of the 33 million dollar Army Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna.

The Army man was Chief Warrant Officer Carl C. Strickland, who is in charge of the depot's property and records. He has been stationed there eight months.

Strickland carried a large package with him into the grand jury room yesterday. Asked about the nature of his testimony, Strickland replied:

"I'll let the records speak for themselves."

The jurors also heard testimony from Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Bellendorf and Ralph De Pompellone, all from Ashdown, Ark.

U. S. Atty. J. Julius Levy described Bellendorf as a supply contractor who furnished materials to the depot.

Another witness was Wilmer E. Hibbs, Goudsboro, who formerly served as a checker at one of the depot's warehouses.

Guard Pilot Safe In Crash Landing

MCUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N. J. (P)—A Pennsylvania Air National Guard pilot escaped injury last night when his F84 jet nosed over in a field during an emergency landing here.

Maj. Roy L. Cousins of the 117th Fighter Interceptor Squadron was flying a routine training mission when the plane appeared to develop hydraulic failure, the base public information officer said.

Maj. Cousins tried to land the single-seat jet here but it overshot the runway and nosed into the field. The nose and landing gear were damaged.

ABBOTTSTOWN—Fred Baker, New Jersey, visited his mother, Mrs. Susan Baker, over the Easter weekend.

Dean Diehl, a student at Penn State University spent the Easter vacation with his mother, Mrs. Besie Diehl.

Weeds and brush which had grown over the school grounds were burned Wednesday evening by men of the community. The Abbottstown firemen were in attendance as an emergency in the event the fire got out of control.

Vote Fraud Trial Recesses To Monday

TOMS RIVER, N. J. (P)—The vote fraud trial of Mrs. Estella F. Snyder and her son, William Jr., was recessed until Monday after the state concluded its case yesterday.

Nine witnesses were called by Dep. Atty. Gen. James C. Aiken in winding up his case, charging the Snyders with voting illegally in Ocean Gate.

The state claims the Snyders actually lived in Havertown, Pa., although they owned property in the New Jersey community.

Yesterday's witnesses included utility company representatives and a newspaper dealer who testified that the Snyders had year-round service at their Pennsylvania address.

PLAN LARGE ARMORY

WASHINGTON (P)—The Hazleton, Pa., Army Reserve unit will get a 200-man armory instead of the smaller, 100-man armory announced last week by Rep. Flood (D-Pa.). Estimated cost is $300,000.

Rep. Flood said yesterday he was subsequently advised by the Army that the Hazleton unit now is large enough to qualify for the larger armory.

REFUSE BEER PERMIT

HARRISBURG (P)—The House last night rejected amendments to include all baseball parks in the state under a measure to permit the sale of beer at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Hank Aaron has a .299 batting average for three seasons with the Milwaukee Braves.

5 JOIN TO ASK PROBE OF ACT

HARRISBURG (P)—Five Republican senators have joined in introduced a resolution calling on the Joint State Government Commission to make a study of Pennsylvania's 1936 Unemployment Compensation Act.

Purpose of the resolution is to look into a clause of the law which, as the resolution puts it, "administratively permits the payment of unemployment compensation through arbitrary action of certain officials to persons on strike without prior court decision."

The resolution in substance challenges the constitutionality of that portion of the law.

It refers in particular to the law as interpreted by Secretary of Labor and Industry Torquato when he granted jobless benefit payments to employees of the idled plants of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Pennsylvania.

Scores of Pennsylvania industrial establishments joined only last week in lodging a court complaint against Torquato's decision.

The resolution, which went to the Senate Rules Committee, is sponsored by Sens. Mallory (R-Blair), Kessler (R-Lancaster), McPherson Jr. (R-Adams), Wade (R-Cumberland) and Peelor (R-Indiana).

Seek Compromise On Shippensburg Bill

HARRISBURG (P)—The House yesterday appointed three members to serve on a joint conference committee to compromise two versions of an appropriation bill for Shippensburg State Teachers College.

Last November the House voted 196-0 to give the school $60,000 as the state's share in improvements made to the sanitary drainage system by the Borough of Shippensburg.

The Senate approved the bill March 14 but only after reducing the sum to $40,000.

Speaker Andrews named Reps. Polen (D-Washington), Guss (D-Juniata), and Worley (R-Adams) as the House members of the committee. The Senate has yet to name its conferees.

WITNESSES MAY BE CALLED AND GIVEN IMMUNITY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Walter (D-Pa.), said Thursday the House Committee on Un-American Activities is considering a law permitting immunity from prosecution.

Walter mentioned no names, saying he'd rather not disclose any now.

But Rep. Velde R-III., senior Republican on the committee, named as possibilities Alger Hiss, who served a prison term for perjury in denying he had given documents to a Communist spy courier, and Steve Nelson, Pennsylvania Communist party leader.

Walter told reporters he has instructed the committee's council "to go over the list of witnesses who have invoked the Fifth Amendment to determine which of them should be recalled and given immunity."

Two Marines Are Injured On Turnpike

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Two Ohio marines were injured when their car collided with a truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike 6 miles east of the Lancaster-Lebanon interchange early Thursday.

Seriously injured was William G. Spangler, 19, of Massillon, Ohio, a passenger in the car driven by George F. Ellish, 18, of Mansfield, Ohio.

The young men were en route to their Philadelphia base. Spangler suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. Ellish suffered from shock.

Both were taken to the Veterans Hospital in Lebanon. John M. Diehl, 28, Green Lane, Pa. driver of the truck, suffered only minor injuries.

State police said Ellish fell asleep at the wheel of his car. Both vehicles overturned.

tee council, said the committee had "been at the edge" a number of times about offering immunity to a witness, but never had made a final decision to take the step. "Now that the test has been made," Walter said, "the committee will take full advantage of it."

He referred to the Supreme Court decision of March 26 upholding the validity of the 1954 immunity law as far as it applies to testimony before federal courts and grand juries. The court specifically noted it was not ruling on a similar provision affecting congressional committee witnesses.

Under the law, a witness who invokes the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination in a case involving national security may be granted immunity from criminal prosecution for what he might disclose. Once granted immunity, the witness must testify or be subject to penalties for contempt.

Hiss, once a government employee, appeared before the committee in 1948 and denied that he was or ever had been a Communist.

Nelson invoked the Fifth Amendment on most questions when he appeared before the committee in 1948 and 1949 in its inquiry into wartime atomic spying on the West Coast.

MENTAL PATIENT SET 5 BLAZES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman says the woman who set five small fires in the White House and an adjacent office building "admits... she has been in several mental institutions" in Michigan.

The Secret Service Wednesday identified the woman as Mrs. Hilda Marie Marks, 50, of St. Clair Shores, Mich. When apprehended Tuesday just after the fifth fire was put out, she gave her name as Mrs. Julia M. Chase, 53, and said she was born in Hagerstown, Md.

The woman was sent to a hospital for mental observation after one fire was set in the White House Red Room and four others were started in the executive offices across the street. All fires were put out quickly and no serious damage resulted. No charges have been placed against the woman.

James C. Hagerty, the White House press secretary, said Mrs. Marks, whom he described as being separated from her husband, came here by bus last Sunday. He said she had been staying at a hotel, but she reportedly could not remember its name.

Flames Destroy W. Va. Float At Winchester

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Virginia's float was the hottest entry in Wednesday night's Cherry Blossom Festival parade.

The 50-foot float burst into flames at the end of the parade route. It was destroyed.

Judith Rice of Clarksburg, West Virginia's "Cherry Blossom Princess," had climbed from her throne, atop two papier-mache peacocks, just before the fire started. She was unhurt.

Firemen traced the blaze to defective wiring or an oil generator buried in the brightly colored float.

If you don't already know, then we hope you'll come with us now on a little imaginary journey in the "car of cars".

Suppose, if you will, that you're in the driver's seat.

How wonderful you feel. Those deep, luxurious cushions hold you in perfect comfort—your hands rest naturally on the slender wheel—and all about you are vision... and beauty... and luxury.

And how quiet and restful it is! The car is so smooth and silent in operation that your only sense of motion comes from the sound of the wind and from the passing landscape.

Starting... stopping... turning—all are regulated with the lightest touch of toe and hand.

You simply lean back and enjoy the ride.

We've heard it said that a drive in a new Cadillac isn't really a drive at all, in the normal sense of the word. It's a time for rest and pleasure and relaxation.

Better come in for a visit some day soon.

If you should decide to move up to a Cadillac, it will be our purpose to make you as pleased with your relationship with us, as your dealer, as you are certain to be with the car itself.

The Cadillac name has long been a symbol of automotive integrity and honesty of purpose—and we make every effort to have our own business reflect the same ideals in our dealings with owners.

It would be a pleasure to see you—at any time.

HARRISBURG (P) — Outright opposition by Gov. Leader today darkened prospects for giving Pennsylvania's 60,000 teachers an extra $200 pay bonus in the current school year.

Brains are important in all sports and all members of athletic teams must have "trigger brains."

In speaking of speed, Barr said, "Know where you're going, and then move with decision."

In speaking of courage, he said it is needed in the classroom as well as on the sports field. "Other schools may be larger but in football it's just 11 against 11; in basketball, five against five or six against six, and in baseball, nine against nine. You're just as good as you think you are. If you go into a game thinking you are a poor player you'll give a poor performance. But if you go into a contest thinking you're a good player you'll give a good performance. Give 100 per cent effort in anything you do," Barr concluded, "in school, home, church, extra-curricular activities, and you will be much happier with yourself."

Change In Attitude
Miss Mary Jones, director of physical education, West Shore High School, Lemoine, congratulated the athletic council and school board in having girls' interscholastic activities. She told of the national move to encourage girls' interscholastic competition during the last year following many years of attempting to discourage it.

Frank Lauterbach, tackle coach of the Baltimore Colts, a substitute for Joe Campanella who was sick, told the group that the Colts are going to be an improved ball club. "You can't expect to be champions overnight, but more experience plus work with the newcomers should help a lot." A question and answer period with the Colts coach followed.

Immediately following the dinner, Mrs. Sentz introduced her basketball squad and each girl was presented with an individual trophy by Marvin Breighner, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Trophies Awarded
Gobrecht introduced his football and basketball players. As the football squad was introduced, J. Monroe Stavel, president of the Lions Club, presented each with an individual trophy. Cloy Crouse, president of the Rotary Club, made the basketball presentations.

Gifts from the squad were given to both Mrs. Sentz and Gobrecht as well as Maurice Bream who assisted in both football and basketball. Other assistant coaches introduced were Dick Thomas and Don Feiser. Both Mrs. Sentz and Gobrecht thanked their respective teams, the service clubs for having the dinner, and both described their teams as fine groups of boys and girls.

Guests There
Guests in addition to the speakers and coaches were the members of the joint school board of Littlestown High School: Littlestown, Carl Baumgardner, Karl Bankert, Wilbur Mackley, Lloyd Crouse and Henry Waltman; Germantown Township, Bernard Hess, Clayton Harget, Wade

WEATHER NEARS NORMAL TODAY IN TORNADO ZONE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly normal early spring weather returned Thursday to most of the storm-stricken sections of the mid-continent as scores of communities hit by tornadoes and destructive wind storms went ahead with giant cleanup operations.

The violent weather which swept areas of 13 states in the Great Lakes region and the Mississippi Valley Monday and Tuesday killed 45 persons and injured nearly 400. Property damage was estimated at 15 million dollars.

The cold front that touched off the tornadoes lost much of its sting as it moved into the East yesterday. Thunderstorms rumbled across areas from the Mid-Atlantic states northward. Hail fell in some sections of Pennsylvania, New York state and New England.

30 Forest Fires

Some areas reported strong winds. Gusts up to 75 m.p.h. were recorded at Rochester, N.Y. They were clocked at near 70 m.p.h. in West Virginia and as far south as Roanoke, Va. However, there was only light rainfall.

Cooler areas in the East were from New York to Maine.

Strong winds and dry weather set off more than 30 brush and forest fires throughout Virginia yesterday. John C. Sullivan, 19, Falmouth, a volunteer fireman, was crushed under the wheels of a fire truck when he tried to leap on it.

National Guardsmen, Red Cross disaster specialists and civil defense workers aided in the cleanup operations in the storm-battered communities.

The American Red Cross in Washington said that in eight states hardest hit by the storms 320 homes were destroyed, 969 damaged and 1,496 families affected.

Revive Defeated Bill For New Vote

HARRISBURG (P) — The House has revived for another vote a joint service district authorization bill defeated by 12 votes Tuesday.

Rep. Toll (D-Phila.), Wednesday asked for reconsideration of the Senate-approved measure which lost out, 94-84, on its first vote. It needed 106 yes votes to pass.

Toll's suggestion for reconsideration was first disapproved on a voice vote but the chair called for a standing vote and announced the decision as 77-67 in favor of reconsideration.

The proposal was placed on the postponed calendar which means it can be called up again at any time.

Backed by Philadelphia lawmakers, the bill is opposed by members from neighboring counties who see it as a "threat to free government."

It would authorize adjoining communities throughout the state to combine in the formation of districts to provide municipal functions such as water and sewage services.

the House Thursday with Senate approval.

The purpose of the proposed extension of the state's toll road would be to provide a bypass around the City of Philadelphia for traffic originating around or running to Chester and other points below Philadelphia.

The bill stipulates no route nor time for construction, leaving those items up to results of surveys to be made by the Turnpike Commission.

Sen. Watkins (R-Delaware) said he believed it would be feasible to construct the superhighway through the rapidly growing areas west of Philadelphia.

"It still is possible to run the extension through areas that are strictly rural," said Watkins.

Sen. Barr (D-Allegany) joined in bi-partisan cosponsorship of the bill.

The road through the mushrooming building development area west of the Quaker City, would be an estimated 18 to 20 miles in length.

psychological setback in his contest with Kefauver for the Democratic nomination unless he can match or better the 42 per cent of the total vote polled by the Tennessee senator in Wisconsin.

The Illinois and Wisconsin primaries have at least as many differences as they have similarities.

Stevenson's Home

Nevertheless, a relatively poor showing by Stevenson next Tuesday would give Kefauver backers some ammunition to argue that he would have less chance against Eisenhower in November than their candidate.

Illinois is Stevenson's home state, where he served one term as governor. In 1952, he lost the state to Eisenhower by 443,000 votes.

Illinois that year did not go as strongly for Eisenhower as did Wisconsin. Eisenhower got 54 per cent of the total general election vote in Illinois and 61 per cent in Wisconsin.

No Party Designations

Stevenson will be unopposed officially in the Illinois Democratic primary, as Kefauver was in Wisconsin. Eisenhower will have taken GOP opposition, as he did in Wisconsin from John Chapple, who polled about 3 per cent of the total vote.

While their primary laws are not identical, both Illinois and Wisconsin register voters without party designations. Voters thus are free to cast ballots in either the Republican or Democratic primary.

Unlike Wisconsin, Illinois permits write-ins. A drive is being organized to write in the name of

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio. Kefauver backers have said that while they plan no organized campaign, they will urge friends to write in the Tennessee senator's name. In Wisconsin, on the other hand, Stevenson's backers publicly urged support of Kefauver; an effort to roll up the Democratic vote.

Police Interested
In Solving Robbery

ATLANTA (AP)—Persons who noticed a man scribbling the word "yes" with chalk on utility poles along Moreland Avenue weren't seeing things.
Police Chief Herbert Jenkins explained that the department received an anonymous letter saying that if police wanted further information about a recent $3,500 robbery they were to write the word "yes" on Moreland Avenue utility poles.
A detective was given a piece of chalk and assigned the task. There haven't been any results so far, Jenkins said, and the department is running out of chalk.

the weekend.
Rev. and Mrs. Pentz of Anderson College, Anderson, Ind., spent several days in the community. He was the guest minister at the York Springs Church of God on Sunday.
